DESCRIPTION: For ceramics only, paste group—

What is it? Finished end of a mano. Made of vesicular basalt w/ very small holes.

Measurements (of pieces; of parts such as feet, openings, projections, etc.)

Condition (eroded; uneroded; burnt—where? how much?; etc.): Excellent condition, uneroded or battered. Broken at slightly greater than a 90° angle. Break edges are sharp and unbattered

Use wear, marking: One very smooth area, about 3.5 cm across, and slightly flattened. Two less worn, less flattened adjacent areas, about 3 cm and 2.5 cm across

Manufacturing marks or other info about how it was made: Item was initially pecked, then ground for finishing. End is rather smooth. The surface opposite the 3 worn/smooth areas was abraded down, but the indentation from manufacturing still exist
